II. HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

The Committee on Government Reform serves as the House's chief investigative and oversight body, reviewing allegations of waste, fraud and abuse across the Federal government. The Committee's unique oversight jurisdiction makes it one of the most influential committees in the House of Represntatives.

Congressman Dan Burton (R-IN) currently serves as the Chairman of the Committee. The Ranking Minority Member is Congressman Henry Waxman (D-CA).

The Committee on Government Reform first appeared in 1927 as the Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments. It was created by consolidating the 11 Committees on Expenditures previously responsible for overseeing how taxpayer monies were spent at each executive branch department.

Under the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946, the Committee was renamed the Committee on Government Operations. The name change was intended to communicate the primary function of the committee -- to study "the operations of Government activities at all levels with a view to determing their economy and efficiency." The Government Operations Committee's oversight jurisdiction over all Federal agencies and departments was unprecedented in the legislative branch.

On January 4, 1995, Republicans assumed contorl of the House of Reprsentatives for the first time in forty years. Republicans immediatley implemented several internal reforms, including an initiative to reduce the humber of standing committees in the House and cut committee staff by one-third. The Committee on Government Reform exemplified the changes that took place in the House. Both the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service and the Committee on the District of Columbia were consolidated into the newly named Government Reform and Oversight Committee. The name change highlighted the Republican view that the federal government needed reform to ensure accountability. This consolidation of three committees into one resulted in millions of dollars in savings and a nearly 50% reduction in staff.

During the 104th Congress, under leadership of Chairman Bill Clinger (R-PA), the Committee produced three major pieces of the 'Contract With America' that became law: 1) legislation to stop Congress from imposing mandates on state and local governments without funding; 2) line-item veto legislation granting the President authority to strike individual items from tax and spending bills; and 3) an act to reduce the paperwork burden the federal government imposes on state and local governments, individuals, and private businesses. The Committee also won passage of legislation to create a financial control board to help bring the District of Columbia out of its financial crisis.

In addition to his legislative accomplishments, Chairman Clinger led the Committee's investigation of the improper firings of White House Travel Office workers and the White House's controversial handling of FBI files.

In 1997, following Chairman Clinger's retirement, Congressman Burton assumed the Chairmanship. He became the first Republican member from the the Hoosier State to chair a full committee of the Hosue since 1931. Previously, Congressman Burton had been a senior member of the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service.

At the onset of the 105th Congress, Chairman Burton guided a Committee investigaiton into illegal foreign contributions that flowed into presidential campaigns, the Justice Department's flawed handling of these allegations, and a series of controversial Presidential pardons.

Under Chairman Burton's leadership, the Committee has also enacted a number of important pieces of legislation governing such diverse areas as Federal employee benefits, the District of Columbia and Federal financial management. Prominent examples include: 1.) The Erroneous Payments Recovery Act, which requires federal agencies to use advanced private-sector auditing procedures to detect and recover mistaken payments; 2.) the District of Columbia Family Court Act, creating a new Family Court in the wake of shocking revelations about the handling of foster care cases in the District of Columbia; and 3.) the Long-Term Care Security Act, establishing an insurance program for Federal employees covering long-tern care needs.

The Committee currently has forty-three members; twenty-three Republicans, nineteen Democrats and one Independent. It has seven subcommittee.

Congressman Tom Davis (R-VA) served as chairman of the committee in the 108th Congress. The ranking minority member was Congressman Henry Waxman (D-CA). In the 108th Congress, 44 members served on the committee, including 24 Republicans, 19 Democrats and 1 Independent. The committee has seven subcommittees. The jurisdiction of the subcommittees was established by a committee resolution on February 13, 2003 along with the rules of the committee.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF COMMITTEES

* * * * * * *

34. The examination of the accounts and expenditures of the several departments, independent establishments, and commissions of the Government, and the manner of keeping the same; the economy, justness, and correctness of such expenditures; their conformity with appropriation laws; the proper application of public moneys; the security of the Government against unjust and extravagant demands; retrenchment; the enforcement of the payment of moneys due the United States; the economy and accountability of public officers; the abolishment of useless offices, shall all be subjects within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments.

The Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946, section 121(b), as adopted in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of Rule XI, 8, of later Rules of the House (XI, 9 in the 93d Congress), provided:

COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENT OPERATIONS

(a) Budget and accounting measures, other than appropriations.

(b) Reorganizations in the executive branch of the Government.

(c) Such committee shall have the duty of—

(1) receiving and examining reports of the Comptroller General of the United States and of submitting such recommendations to the House as it deems necessary or desirable in connection with the subject matter of such reports;

(2) studying the operation of Government activities at all levels with a view to determining its economy and efficiency;

(3) evaluating the effects of laws enacted to reorganize the legislative and executive branches of the Government; and

(4) studying intergovernmental relationships between the United States and the States and municipalities, and between the United States and international organizations of which the United States is a member.

(d) For the purpose of performing such duties the committee, or any subcommittee thereof when authorized by the committee, is authorized to sit, hold hearings, and act at such times and places within the United States, whether or not the House is in session, is in recess, or has adjourned, to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such papers, documents, and books, and to take such testimony as it deems necessary. Subpoenas may be issued under the signature of the chairman of the committee of any subcommittee, or by any member designated by any such chairman, and may be served by any person designated by any such chairman or member.[2]

Rule X, 1(h), of later Rules of the House, effective January 3, 1975 (H. Res. 988, 93d Congress), added the additional jurisdiction of general revenue sharing (formerly within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means), and the National Archives (formerly within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service).

Rule X, 1(j)(6), of later Rules of the House listed the additional jurisdiction of measures providing for off-budget treatment of Federal agencies or programs, which was added by sec. 225 of Public Law 99-177, the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 (December 12, 1985).

The 1946 Act contained the following provision:

Provided, That unless otherwise provided herein, any matter within the jurisdiction of a standing committee prior to January 2, 1947, shall remain subject to the jurisdiction of that committee or of the consolidated committee succeeding generally to the jurisdiction of that committee.

This proviso was omitted from the Rules of the House adopted January 3, 1954.[3]

Under the Constitution (Art. I, sec. 5, cl. 2), "Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings." Omission of the proviso made no substantive change, since the scope of the committee's jurisdiction prior to January 2, 1947, was embraced within the committee's jurisdiction as stated in existing rules and precedents.

The committee's membership, which was fixed at 21 when it was consolidated on December 5, 1927, was increased to 25 when the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 became effective on January 2, 1947. In 1951, the committee's membership was increased to 27.[4] From 1953 until January 1963, the committee's membership remained at 30.[5] Pursuant to H.Res. 108, 88th Congress, adopted January 17, 1963, the committee was enlarged to 31 members. In the 89th Congress the membership of the committee was increased to 34 through passage of H.Res. 114, January 14, 1965. The committee membership in the 90th and 91st Congresses of 35 was first established by H.Res. 128, 90th Congress approved January 16, 1967. The committee membership in the 92d Congress of 39 was established by H.Res. 192, approved February 4, 1971. It was raised to 41 by H.Res. 158, adopted January 24, 1973. The committee membership of 42 was established by H.Res. 1238, adopted July 17, 1974. As stated above, it was increased to 43 by H.Res. 76 and 101, adopted January 20 and 28, 1975. (Note.—It dropped to 42 due to death of Hon. Torbert H. Macdonald.) Membership was maintained at 43 in the 95th Congress by H.Res. 117 and 118, adopted January 19, 1977. The committee membership was set at 39 in the 96th Congress by H.Res. 62 and 63, adopted January 24, 1979. The committee membership was set at 40 in the 97th Congress by H.Res. 44 and 45, adopted January 28, 1981. The committee membership was increased to 41 by H.Res. 370, adopted February 24, 1982, electing Representative Barbara B. Kennelly to the committee. In the 98th Congress, the committee membership of 39, including two vacancies, was established by H.Res. 26 and 27, adopted January 6, 1983. The vacancies were filled by appointments of Representatives Larry E. Craig on March 1, 1983 (H.Res. 108), and Daniel L. Schaefer on April 21, 1983 (H.Res. 168). (Representative Dante B. Kleczka was appointed to the committee on May 16, 1984 (H.Res. 499), bringing the membership to 39. (Representative Buddy MacKay resigned September 12, 1984.) Representative George (Buddy) Darden was appointed to the committee on September 13, 1984 (H.Res. 582), leaving the membership at 39.

The committee membership was set at 39 in the 99th Congress by H.Res. 34 and 35, adopted January 30, 1985. Representative Mel Levine resigned February 6, 1985; Representative John R. Representative Scott Klug was elected to the committee on July 22, 1996 (H.Res. 485), bringing the membership of the committee to 52.

Beginning September 28, 1949, the moneys appropriated to the committee were, by House resolution in each session of Congress, available for expenses incurred in conducting studies and investigations authorized under Rule XI, whether made within or without the United States.[6] In the 103rd Congress, these matters are covered in paragraph (b) of clause 1 of Rule XI, as set forth above, and by clause 5 of Rule XI. The funds for the committee's studies and oversight function during the first session of the 103rd Congress were provided by H.Res. 107, adopted March 30, 1993 (H.Rept. 103-38), and by H.Res. 369, adopted March 22, 1994 (H.Rept. 103-433), for the second session.

The committee's name was changed to "Committee on Government Operations" by House resolution adopted July 3, 1952.[7] The Congressional Record indicates the reasons underlying that change in name were, in part, as follows:[8]

This committee is proposing the indicated change in the present title, in view of the fact that it is misleading and the committee's functions and duties are generally misunderstood by the public.

[8] Letter of February 19, 1952, from the chairman, Senate Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments, Senator McClellan to Senator Hayden (98 Cong. Rec. 1702).

In suggesting the proposed change the committee based its decision on what it considers to be the major or primary function of the committee under the prescribed duties assigned to it to study "the operations of Government activities at all levels with a view to determining its economy and efficiency." It was the unanimous view of the members of the committee that the proposed new title would be more accurate in defining the purposes for which the committee was created and in clearly establishing the major purpose it serves.

On January 4, 1995, the 104th Congress opened with a Republican majority for the first time in forty years. The shift in power from Democrats to Republicans has resulted in a realignment of the legislative priorities and committee structure of the House of Representatives. Perhaps more than any other committee, the Government Reform and Oversight Committee embodies the changes taking place in the House of Representatives. The Committee itself was created by consolidating three committees into one, resulting in budget and staff cuts of nearly 50%. The committees that were merged include the Committee on Government Operations, the Committee on the Post Office and Civil Service, and the Committee on the District of Columbia.

In order to fulfill the Republican Contract with America, the committee held a record number of hearings and mark-ups, and members cast more votes during this 100 day period than in any of the previous Committee's histories. Over the course of the first session, 295 bills and resolutions were referred to the committee and its subcommittees, and 180 hearings and mark-ups were held. Five of these measures have been signed into law.

In addition to its greatly expanded legislative jurisdiction, the Government Reform and Oversight Committee serves as the chief investigative committee of the House, with the authority to conduct government-wide oversight. Because the committee only authorizes money for a small number of federal agencies and programs, it is able to review government activities with an unbiased eye.

The 105th Congress and the Committee on Government Reform and Oversight under the leadership of Chairman Dan Burton (R-IN) enjoyed a productive year as Congress continued to move closer to its goals established with the Contract with America, to seek to achieve a smaller, smarter, and more efficient common sense government.

In addition to the committee's oversight responsibilities, the Government Reform and Oversight Committee has pursued an active, ambitious agenda throughout the 105th Congress with its ongoing investigation of suspected illegal activities during the 1996 elections. The committee and its eight subcommittees conducted 252 hearings during the 105th Congress. Hearings covered the following diverse range of subjects: the year 2000 computer crisis; the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program; the Persian Gulf war veterans illnesses; oversight and implementation of the Results Act; the investigation of political fundraising improprieties; and the review of the Food and Drug Administration and its regulations respecting terminally ill patients and their ability to access desired treatments. The committee staff developed a web site (www.house.gov/reform) to post up-to-minute witness testimonies and reports for quick availability.

The committee continued its oversight responsibilities during the 106th Congress. The committee continued with its investigation of suspected illegal fundraising during the 1996 elections. Hearings also covered a wide rage of subjects including the year 2000 computer crisis, the President's decision to grant clemency to members of the FALN, oversight of Plan Columbia, an aid package to Columbia to fight the drug war, the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program, and oversight of the FDA. The committee also passed legislation to recover millions of dollars from government contractors through auditing. The committee also maintained a website (www.house.gov/reform) to post not only witness testimonies but live coverage of committee hearings.
