Whereas the Community Sant'Egidio helped to mediate the conflicting parties in the peace negotiations which led to the peace agreement in Mozambique, and it has taken part in peace and disarmament negotiations in Burundi, the Democratic Republic of Congo, Liberia, and Sudan, and has coordinated humanitarian relief for refugees worldwide;

Whereas Pope John Paul II recognized the Community of Sant'Egidio in a message to the 2002 Prayer for Peace, saying "I would like to thank especially the Community of Sant'Egidio for the enthusiasm and the spiritual courage shown in accepting the message of Assisi and bringing it to so many places in the world through the meeting of men of different religions"; and
