HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
COMMITTEE ON INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS,
Washington, DC, January 2, 1997.

Under rule X of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 136 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946, the Committee on International Relations is authorized to exercise continuous surveillance of the execution by the executive branch of laws within the committee's jurisdiction. The review of "oversight" activities of the Committee on International Relations was augmented by the adoption of section 118 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1970 (Public Law 91-150), as amended by Public Law 92-136. This provision requires standing committees of the House and the Senate after January 1, 1973, to make reports to their respective Houses on their activities in reviewing and studying the "application, administration, and execution of those laws or parts of laws, the subject of which is within the jurisdiction of that committee.

House committees are required to file such reports "not later than January 2 of each odd-numbered year." It is in fulfillment of the obligation of the Committee on International Relations to account to the House for its legislative review activities during the 104th Congress that this report has been prepared and submitted.

The report was prepared by Laura L. Rush, Legislative Coordinator for the Committee.

Hon. ROBIN H. CARLE,
Clerk of the House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MS. CARLE: I enclose herewith a report for the 104th Congress of the Legislative Review Activities of the Committee on International Relations in accordance with section 136 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946, as amended by section 118 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1970, as amended by Public Law 92-136.

With best wishes,
Sincerely,

LEGISLATIVE REVIEW ACTIVITIES

JANUARY 2, 1997.—Committed to the Committee on the Whole House on the State of the Union and ordered to be printed

Mr. GILMAN, from the Committee on International Relations, submitted the following

REPORT

I. INTRODUCTION: OVERSIGHT IN THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS FIELD

A. Authorities for Legislative Review

The responsibilities and potentialities of legislative review are reflected in the multiple authorities which are available to the Committee on International Relations. The most prominent is section 118 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1970 (Public Law 91-510):

LEGISLATIVE REVIEW BY STANDING COMMITTEES OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

(a) Scope of assistance.

In order to assist the Congress in—

(1) Its analysis, appraisal, and evaluation of the application, administration, and execution of the laws enacted by the Congress, and

(2) Its formulation, consideration, and enactment of such modifications of or changes in those laws, and of such additional legislation, as may be necessary or appropriate, each standing committee of the Senate and the House of Representatives shall review and study, on a continuing basis, the application, administration, and execution of those laws, or parts of laws, the subject matter of which is within the jurisdiction of that committee. Such committees may carry out the required analysis, appraisals, and evaluation themselves, or by contract, or may require a Government agency to do so and furnish a report thereon to the Congress. Such committees may rely on such techniques as pilot testing, analysis of costs in comparison with benefits, or provision for evaluation after a defined period of time.<sup>1</sup>

A second type of authority fostering legislative review is the special oversight granted by the House Committee Reform Amendments of 1974 (H. Res. 988, approved Oct. 8, 1974). Special oversight, which is intended to enable committees to conduct comprehensive oversight of matters directly bearing upon their specified responsibilities even if those matters fall within the jurisdiction of other standing committees, permits an expansion of the legislative review jurisdiction of a committee.

The Committee on International Relations currently has special oversight jurisdiction in four areas under clause 3(d) of House Rule X.

3. (d) The Committee on International Relations shall have the function of reviewing and studying, on a continuing basis, all laws, programs, and Government activities dealing with or involving customs administration, intelligence activities relating to foreign policy, international financial and monetary organizations, and international fishing agreements.

Frequently reporting requirements in legislation obligate various agencies, directly or through the President, to submit reports of certain activities to the Committee on International Relations to the Speaker of the House, who then transmits them to the committee. The House Committee on International Relations is the recipient of one of the largest quantities of required reports from the executive branch.

In addition to the authorities noted above, the congressional budget process provides the committee with another important tool for oversight. Pursuant to section 301(c) of the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Act of 1974, each standing committee of the House is required to submit to the Committee on the budget, no later than March 15 of each year, a report containing its views and estimates on the President's proposed budget for the coming fiscal year. This requirement affords the committee and its subcommittees the opportunity to review those items in the President's budget which fall under the committee's jurisdiction, and to establish possible guidelines for subsequent action on authorizing legislation.

A final authority which can have an impressive oversight impact is implicit in the authorization process. Regular and frequent reauthorization of programs or agency operations by committees presents the opportunity to investigate administrative personnel hiring and promotion practices, agency organization, employee development and benefit programs, policy guidance, and administrative rules and regulations regarding the implementation and execution of policy, among other items. The authorization process also permits program evaluation, an important oversight technique.

The legislative review activities of the Committee on International Relations are sanctioned by various and extensive authorities—the basic mandate of the 1970 Legislative Reorganization Act, <sup>1</sup>Section 701 of the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act of 1974 (Public Law 93-344) amended the original mandate and authority of the 1970 act by adding the last two sentences regarding program review and evaluation.

the broadened jurisdiction and special oversight provided by the House Committee Reform Amendments of 1974, statutory reporting requirements, and the authorization process.

B. Oversight Developments in the Committee on International Relations

During the 95th Congress, the committee received jurisdictional authority over export controls involving nonproliferation of nuclear technology and nuclear hardware, and international commodity agreements involving cooperation in the export of nuclear technology and nuclear hardware. This new jurisdictional authority was provided for by House Resolution 5, which passed the House on January 4, 1977.

In the 96th Congress, the committee's jurisdiction was not enlarged. However, the committee in its organization for the 96th Congress reduced the number of subcommittees from nine to eight. Deleted was the Subcommittee on International Development whose jurisdiction included: (1) Dealing with the Agency for International Development and other U.S. agencies' operations affecting development; (2) administration of foreign assistance; (3) oversight of multilateral assistance programs; (4) population and food programs; and (5) legislation and oversight with respect to the Peace Corps, which was subsumed by the full committee. The subcommittees for the 96th Congress, representing a mix of geographical and functional responsibilities, were as follows:

- Subcommittee on International Security and Scientific Affairs;
- Subcommittee on International Operations;
- Subcommittee on Europe and the Middle East;
- Subcommittee on International Economic Policy and Trade;
- Subcommittee on Asian and Pacific Affairs;
- Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs;
- Subcommittee on Africa; and
- Subcommittee on International Organizations.

In the 97th Congress, the subcommittees remained the same with the exception of the Subcommittee on International Organizations, whose name was changed to the Subcommittee on Human Rights and International Organizations, in order to delineate clearly its jurisdiction over the subject of human rights.

In the 98th Congress, the subcommittees remained the same, however, the name of the Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs was changed to the Subcommittee on Western Hemisphere Affairs. In addition, a special task force was created under the aegis of the full committee, the Task Force on International Narcotics Control. The purpose of this task force was to provide oversight of narcotics-related developments and programs over which the committee has jurisdiction pursuant to rule X of the Rules of the House, which included the following:

Narcotics control programs conducted by the Department of State; Narcotics-related projects carried out by the Agency for International Development (AID); Overseas activities of the Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA), the Department of Defense; and the U.S. Customs Service; Narcotics control programs carried out by international organizations; Intelligence issues related to narcotics trafficking and control; Prisoner exchange programs and their impact on U.S. narcotics control efforts; Narcotics interdiction programs and agreement; Narcotics-related efforts by the U.S. Information Agency; and Relationship between international banking/financial transactions and narcotics trafficking.

Because of the importance of narcotics control issues, the Task Force was reconstituted every six months through the 102nd Congress.

Subcommittee structure remained the same for the 99th Congress; however, the name of the Subcommittee on International Security and Scientific Affairs was changed to the Subcommittee on Arms Control, International Security and Science. This change was made to reflect the committee's and subcommittee's concern over the important issues of arms control. The jurisdiction of the subcommittee was redefined in the rules of the Committee on Foreign Affairs to read, "To deal with * * * all aspects of arms control and disarmament with particular emphasis on the investigation and evaluation of arms control and disarmament proposals and concepts; * * *".

Under the Rules of the House, the Committee on International Relations has jurisdiction over issues involving international terrorism pursuant to rule X of the Rules of the House, paragraphs (I)(1), (I)(4-10), and (I)(12-16). For the 99th Congress, two subcommittee jurisdictional changes were made to reflect the committee's concern with international terrorism. The Subcommittee on Arms Control, International Security and Science was given jurisdiction over "* * * international terrorism with special focus on the U.S. Government's policies and programs for combating international terrorist movements and actions; * * *". The Subcommittee on International Operations jurisdictional responsibility was redefined to include "* * * international terrorism with special emphasis on policies and programs relating to the enhancement for embassy security and the protection of U.S. personnel and institutions abroad; * * *".

In addition, two subcommittees had language added to their respective definitions providing responsibility for oversight of international communication and information policy. Lastly, the Subcommittee on Human Rights and International Organizations was given the responsibility for international law.

No changes were made in subcommittee structure or jurisdiction for the 100th, 101st, or 102nd Congresses.

In the 103rd Congress, the Committee was required by the Rules of the Democratic Caucus to reduce the number of subcommittees from eight to six. However, due to concern about retaining a subcommittee with exclusive focus on Africa, the Committee received a waiver of Rule 35(B) of the Democratic Caucus and retained seven subcommittees. The Subcommittee on Arms Control, International Security, and Science, and the Subcommittee on Human Rights and International Organizations were merged to create the Subcommittee on International Security, International Organizations, and Human Rights. The jurisdiction of that subcommittee was essentially a merger of the jurisdictions of the two subcommittees. However, specific reference to "* * * law enforcement issues to include terrorism and narcotics control programs and activities * * *” was added to the jurisdiction of the subcommittee, thereby consolidating all jurisdiction over narcotics and terrorism in one subcommittee. The Committee also added specific reference to environmental issues to the jurisdiction of the Subcommittee on International Economic Policy and Trade and changed the name of the subcommittee to the Subcommittee on Economic Policy, Trade, and Environment to reflect that addition. In addition, jurisdiction over the operating expenses of the Agency for International Development and the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency was added to the Subcommittee on International Operations. Finally, the Committee made minor conforming changes to the names of two of its regional subcommittees.

In the 104th Congress, pursuant to H. Res. 6, passed January 4, 1995, the name of the Committee was changed from “Foreign Affairs” to “International Relations”. In addition, the number of subcommittees was decreased from seven to five. The Subcommittee on International Security, International Organizations, and Human Rights, and the Subcommittee on Europe and the Middle East were dissolved. The Europe and Middle East Subcommittee jurisdiction was reabsorbed by the full Committee. The Subcommittee on Economic Policy, Trade, and Environment dropped “environment” from its title, returning its name to the “Subcommittee on International Economic Policy and Trade.” The Subcommittee on International Security, International Organizations, and Human Rights and the Subcommittee on International Operations were combined, with a name change to “Subcommittee on International Operations and Human Rights”.

C. Oversight Activities and Criteria

The oversight activities of the Committee on International Relations include a variety of instruments and mechanisms—full committee and subcommittee hearings, members’ and staff study missions abroad, special Congressional Research Service studies, and General Accounting Office assistance and reports in the field of international relations.

Committee and subcommittee hearings may be conducted for numerous purposes and may serve more than one function, i.e., oversight, legislation, public education simultaneously. Thus, oversight may exist even when the hearing is not explicitly intended for that purpose. The criteria for determining whether a hearing performs the oversight function were identified by the House Select Committee on Committees in 1973 and are as follows:<sup>2</sup>

- (1) To review and control unacceptable forms of bureaucratic behavior;
- (2) To insure that bureaucracy implements the policy objectives of the Congress;
- (3) To analyze national and international problems requiring Federal action; and
- (4) To determine the effectiveness of legislative programs and policies.

<sup>2</sup>U.S. Congress, House. Select Committee on Committees. Committee Reform Amendments of 1974. Report, 93rd Congress, 2d session, March 21, 1974 (H.Rept.No. 93-916, Part II).

These same purposes help to define other committee activity which relates to its legislative review function. It should be noted that not all such activity can be included in this report. Oversight may occur informally, not only through the formal processes and mechanisms noted above. Informal discussions between committee members and executive branch officials may constitute oversight in certain instances as may staff examination of agency activity and behavior and staff consultation with agency personnel apart from the normal hearing process.

In summary, the legislative review activities of the House Committee on International Relations for the 104th Congress rely on extensive authorities embodied in the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1970 and reinforced through the authorization process, subsequent legislation, and reporting requirements.

D. Oversight Activities of the Committee on International Relations—104th Congress

The following section is set out in compliance with Clause (1)(d)(3) of Rule XI.

Almost all of the Committee's day-to-day activities, including hearings and informal meetings, involve oversight of the Administration or afford the Committee the opportunity to learn the impact of United States foreign policy.

The Committee's Oversight Plan is set out below in full. Although the Committee did not conduct every hearing planned, most oversight issues were accomplished to some degree or addressed in some way, such as through briefings or staff work.

(Adopted by the Committee, February 14, 1995; numbering scheme adopted April, 1995).

COMMITTEE ON INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS OVERSIGHT PLAN

Rule X, clause 2 (d) of the Rules of the House of Representatives requires that each standing Committee adopt an oversight plan for the two-year period of the Congress and to submit the plan to the Committees on Government Reform and Oversight and House Oversight not later than February 15 of the first session of the Congress.

This is the oversight plan of the Committee on International Relations for the 104th Congress. It includes the areas in which the Committee intended to conduct oversight during this Congress. As the Committee's priorities change, the oversight work of the Committee may change. The fact that an issue is listed here does not mean that the Committee necessarily held a formal meeting devoted solely to that issue, but means that the Committee hoped to cover the issue during the course of its oversight work.

GENERAL

A. Ongoing Meetings with Administration and Foreign Leaders

A-1. The Committee and its subcommittees, and individual members, especially the Chairman and Ranking Minority Member, will continue to meet, informally and in formal sessions, with members of the President's Cabinet and officials at all levels within the Executive branch. These meetings allow the Committee and its members to raise issues relating to the conduct of foreign affairs and other matters within its oversight jurisdiction.

A-2. Committee members meet, as an element of the oversight process, with heads of state and government, cabinet ministers, and parliamentarians from around the world. In the 103rd Congress, the Committee held over 200 meetings of this nature; in the 104th Congress, the Committee expects to maintain that pace. In addition, Committee staff meet with countless foreign visitors on an informal basis. These meetings, inter alia, allow the Committee to evaluate the effectiveness of U.S. diplomacy with respect to our relations with these visitors' countries and third countries.

B. Evaluation of Foreign Assistance Programs; the Future of the Agency for International Development.

B-1. Structure of Foreign Aid in the Post-Cold-War World: who, what and how? Including evaluation of foreign aid institutions. (Winter/Spring, 1995).

B-2. Duplication/Overlap in Foreign Assistance. What foreign assistance (and technical cooperation) is being administered outside of AID/State Department? (Spring, 1995).

B-3. Effectiveness of Development Assistance, including: Review of effectiveness of foreign assistance in influencing policy changes in developing countries; Current role of development foundations; Evaluation of the role of training in development assistance; what is the role of agriculture research in development; what are valid indicators of social and economic development? (Spring/Summer/Fall, 1995).

B-4. Review of PL 480, Food aid, cargo preference. (Summer, 1995).

B-5. Experimental quick-turn-around GAO pentagon-style "budget scrub" of selected aid program(s). (Spring/Summer, 1995).

B-6. Review of comparative effectiveness of bilateral and multilateral aid programs. (USAID DA vs. UNDP). (Fall, 1995).

B-7. Review of microenterprise programs. (Fall, 1995/Winter, 1996).

B-8. Evaluation of the effectiveness of population programs. (Spring, 1996).

B-9. The effectiveness of Enterprise Funds as an alternative model for foreign assistance. (Winter/Spring, 1995).

B-10. PVO/NGO role in delivering foreign assistance: Are PVOs contractors, partners or grantees? (Spring, 1995).

B-11. Review of Democracy-building activities. One of the key activities of USIA, AID, and other agencies is the role they play in support of democracy development. A proliferation of democracy programs in various agencies, and non-governmental organizations raises questions as to overlap, efficiency, and effectiveness. (Summer, 1995).

C. Security Assistance / Political-Military Issues / Arms Control / Non-Proliferation / Peacekeeping

C-1. Review of military aid to Greece and Turkey. (Spring/Summer, 1995)

C-2. Review of effectiveness of expanded International Military Education and Training program. (Fall, 1996)

C-3. "Rogue Regimes." Review of the problem of security threats from so-called "rogue regimes" that have, or could gain, the power to create weapons of mass destruction. (Summer/Fall, 1995)

C-4. Peacekeeping. Major unresolved issues remain in the wake of the consideration of the peacekeeping provisions in H.R. 7 by the House. The extent to which U.S. participation in U.N. peacekeeping advances U.S. national interests and the degree to which other countries are paying their fair share of these costs, are two key issues that need oversight by our committee. (Spring, 1995)

C-5. Arms Control. Review implementation of arms control treaties and agreements including the START treaties, the Chemical Weapons Convention, the CFE Treaty, the ABM Treaty, the Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty, the Missile Technology Control Regime and other arms control and nonproliferation agreements. (Spring, 1995–Fall, 1996)

C-6. Nonproliferation. Effectiveness of IAEA; Status of fissile material production ban; review effectiveness of existing and proposed nuclear weapon free zones in Latin America, the South Pacific, Africa, South Asia, and Southeast Asia. (Spring, 1996)

C-7. Conventional Arms Transfer Policy. (Spring, 1995)

C-8. Nunn-Lugar Program. Review implementation of program aimed at dismantlement and destruction of nuclear, chemical, and biological weapons in the independent states of the former Soviet Union. (Spring, 1995–Spring, 1996)

C-9. Security Assistance. Review effectiveness and implementation of security assistance programs including FMF, ESF, IMET, and NPDP spigots. (Spring, 1995–Spring, 1996)

D. Terrorism and Narcotics Control Programs and Activities.

D-1. Oversight on the process of countries getting on and off the "terrorist" list; what alternatives exist to current policies. (Summer, 1995)

D-2. Examination of cooperation between FBI, CIA, State Department and other U.S. agencies concerning organized crime worldwide. Is legislation needed? Focus on former Soviet Union. (Spring, 1995)

D-3. Review of the impact of the massive visa and passport fraud in the U.S. and abroad on America's problems with terrorism, illicit drugs, and new organized crime elements. (Fall, 1995)

D-4. Oversight of the State Department's visa lookout system and the interagency information sharing program. The State Department IG and the GAO have recently completed analyses of the serious shortcomings in the visa lookout system. (Fall, 1995)

D-5. Oversight of international narcotics annual certification determinations for 1995/1996 with regard to major drug transit or producing countries and worldwide review of cooperation with U.S. on counternarcotics efforts. (Spring, 1995 and Spring, 1996) (after certifications are released).

D-6. Review of the overall international narcotics component of the Administration drug strategy presented each year by the Office of National Drug Control Policy (ONDCP). (Spring, 1995 and 1996, after the national drug control strategy released annually in early February)

D-7. Examination of U.S. response to the proliferation of FSU-origin nuclear materials to terrorists or rogue states. (Winter, 1996)

D-8. The War Against Drugs: Peru, Bolivia, Colombia. The committee will oversee U.S. efforts to induce these countries to cooperate with U.S. eradication and interdiction efforts. (Spring, 1995)

D-9. Drug Interdiction: the U.S. Mexican Border. The Committee will examine what impact NAFTA has had on cross-border drug traffic as well as the general state of U.S. Border Patrol and Drug Enforcement Agency efforts to stop this traffic. (Summer, 1995)

D-10. Money Laundering: the Caribbean. The Committee will explore the effectiveness of recent efforts to curb money laundering in the Caribbean. (Summer, 1996)

E. Other

E-1. Extradition issues. The Committee will oversee Administration efforts to secure and implement extradition agreements.

THE MIDDLE EAST

F-1. The Committee will hold periodic hearings on current developments in the Middle East. It will call the Assistant Secretary responsible for this area approximately every other month. These hearings would require the Administration to justify its current and ongoing overall policy in the region to the Congress; questions central to the Committee's interest in overseeing the conduct of foreign affairs in these regions may be put to the Administration in a timely manner. The Committee will also hold closed briefings, as appropriate, with the Assistant Secretary or his or her subordinate. As appropriate, topics set out below will be explored in depth with the Assistant Secretary.

F-2. Administration and Public testimony on assistance programs for this region will be received before foreign aid markup begins. (Winter/Spring, 1995)

F-3. Oversight of the Palestinian track of the peace process, including oversight of the Middle East Peace Facilitation Act. (e.g., PLO compliance with its commitments); effect of peace process on Israel's security and Middle East stability; U.S. funding and oversight of UNRWA. Review GAO report findings on PLO assets; need for additional legislation relative to beneficiaries of U.S. assistance. (Spring/Summer, 1995)

F-4. Review of the Administration's Dual Containment Policy regarding Iraq and Iran. U.S. policy on Iran's global relationships, its nuclear aspirations, its sponsorship of terrorism, fundamentalism, the stability of the Iranian regime, economic conditions in Iran, U.S. commercial interests in Iran, and OECD relations with Iran. Iraq Sanctions Regime; U.S. policy and the situation of the Kurds in the North (Operation Provide Comfort) and the Shia in the South (Operation Southern Watch). U.S. policy toward Saddam Hussein. U.S. strategy on sanctions in the Security Council. (Spring/Summer, 1995)

F-5. U.S. policy towards Syria. Syria's relationship with Iran; Syria's ongoing military buildup. Assessment of regime stability and succession as well as relationship between stability concerns and the peace process. Syrian support of international terrorism. (Winter, 1996)

F-6. U.S. policy toward Saudi Arabia and the Gulf. Including political stability, internal reform, U.S. military presence and base rights and prepositioning, U.S. arms sales. (Spring, 1996)

F-7. Review of U.S. policy toward Israel in the light of the expected 1996 Elections. (Spring, 1996)

F-8. Islamic Fundamentalism and its effect on countries in the Middle East. International and regional linkages of Islamist organizations, including funding and training. Address U.S. policy as well as other Middle East governments policies. (Summer, 1996)

F-9. Egypt. U.S.-Egyptian relations; the future of U.S. aid to Egypt and Egypt's economic reform program; Islamist violence, human rights and the stability of the Mubarak regime; Egypt's role in the peace process, including Egyptian-Israeli relations; and Egypt's regional relations including with Jordan, Syria, Saudi Arabia, the Palestinians, and Libya. (Spring, 1996)

F-10. Middle East Trade Issues. Possible free trade area; the proposed Middle East Development Bank; economic relations between Israel and the Arab countries.

EUROPE

G-1. The Committee will hold periodic hearings on current developments in Europe. It will call the Assistant Secretary responsible for this area approximately every other month. These hearings would require the Administration to justify its current and ongoing overall policy in the region to the Congress; questions central to the Committee's interest in overseeing the conduct of foreign affairs in these regions may be put to the Administration in a timely manner. The Committee will also hold closed briefings, as appropriate, with the Assistant Secretary or his or her subordinate. As appropriate, topics set out below will be explored in depth with the Assistant Secretary.

G-2. Administration and Public testimony on assistance programs for this region will be received before foreign aid markup begins. (Winter/Spring, 1995)

G-3. Russia: (1) Is Russia moving towards constitutional democracy or authoritarianism? (2) What are the trends in the U.S.-Russian relationship in the post-communist era: is a cooperative relationship possible? (Winter, 1995)

G-4. Review of U.S. Assistance Programs for the Newly Independent States: look at the structure of assistance programs and whether they are helping achieve the objectives of political and economic reform. (Winter, 1995)

G-5. Review of the administration of U.S. Assistance Programs for Eastern Europe, with special emphasis on the "southern tier." (Bulgaria, Romania, Macedonia, Croatia, and Albania, including development of an Albanian Enterprise Fund). (Spring, 1995)

G-6. Russia: Its policies towards neighboring states. Review Russian foreign policy towards the other newly independent states, Eastern Europe, China and Japan. (Summer, 1995)

G-7. Serbia and Croatia: political trends in both countries; prospects for a settlement of the conflict in Croatia; political effects of state control of the media in Serbia; possibility of new, non-nationalist political leadership in Serbia. (Summer, 1995)

G-8. U.S. policy toward Georgia, Armenia and Azerbaijan; review of how the Administration is dealing with conflicts in Nagorno-Karabakh, Abkhazia, and South Ossetia. (Fall, 1995)

G-9. U.S. policy toward Ukraine, Moldova and Belarus: Assistance Programs and Political Developments; U.S. policy with respect to the relations between these countries and Russia. (Fall, 1995)

G-10. Review of U.S. Assistance Programs for the Newly Independent States. (Winter, 1996)

G-11. Review of U.S. Assistance Programs for Eastern Europe. (Winter, 1996)

G-12. Review of U.S. policy toward Macedonia, Bulgaria, Albania and Romania: Nationalism, Ethnic Minorities and the Effects of Balkan Instability. (Spring, 1996)

G-13. Central Asia: Review of the conflict in Tajikistan, ethnic issues in the region and Central Asian states' relations with China, Russia, Turkey, and the Islamic states; the role of U.S. aid programs; the development of natural resources. (Spring, 1996)

G-14. Quarterly review of U.S. policy on Bosnia—U.S. military involvement, economic sanctions, arms embargo, effect of U.N. peacekeeping (informal meetings or formal hearings, tbd).

G-15. Review of U.S. policy and actions on Cyprus. Strength of U.S. support for settlement, impact of the situation on our relations with Greece, Turkey, and Cyprus. (Summer, 1995 and 1996)

G-16. Human Rights in Turkey: Effect of FMS conditionality on Turkish policies, including Turkish cooperation on Cyprus (may be closed/informal) (Spring, 1995/Winter, 1996).

G-17. U.S./Europe Union Relations: Is free trade/closer political coordination possible?

G-18. NATO issues. Implementation of the NATO Participation Act. Security architecture for Europe: Future of NATO, EU, WEU, and OSCE. (Fall, 1995)

INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC POLICY AND TRADE

H-1. Post-COCOM Negotiations. The U.S. government is currently negotiating with 22 other governments over proposals to establish a new multi-lateral export control regime to replace the now-defunct Coordinating Committee on Multilateral Export Controls (COCOM). The committee will conduct a review of these negotiations, their current status, U.S. goals and the prospects for successfully establishing a regime. (Spring, 1995)

H-2. U.S. Efforts to Open Markets in Telecommunications and Financial Services. The committee will review the range of negotiations now underway and assess the progress of these talks and the potential for increasing U.S. exports. (Spring, and Summer 1995)

H-3. U.S. Efforts to Protect Intellectual Property. The Committee will review the effectiveness of the U.S. strategy in these talks. (Late winter, 1995)

H-4. Export Promotion of U.S. Agricultural Products. The committee will review export promotion programs in conjunction with upcoming action on the trade provisions of the 1995 Farm Bill, which are under the jurisdiction of the committee. (Early Spring, 1995)

H-5. AID Housing Guarantee Program. AID has program with $2.5 billion in outstanding loan guarantees to support housing and community development overseas. (This program is separate from the special guarantee program for Israel.) The GAO is studying the program; the committee review the results of that study, as well as other information related to the program. (Spring, 1995)

H-6. U.S. Policy on Tied Aid Practices. U.S. policy holds that tied aid generates unfair trade. To discourage tied aid, the U.S. government maintains a fund in the Export-Import Bank which is used to match tied aid proposals from other governments that would disadvantage U.S. exporters. The committee will review the effectiveness of the OECD agreement and the use of the Ex-Im Bank fund. (Summer, 1995)

H-7. Export Assistance for Small- and Medium-sized firms. The Committee is concerned that small- and medium-sized firms face difficulties in making use of U.S. government export promotion and finance programs. Working jointly with the Small Business Committee, the committee will examine current programs to determine whether improvements can be made to make them more "user-friendly" for smaller companies. (Fall, 1995)

H-8. Export Promotion and Finance Programs. The U.S. government maintains a series of agencies and programs to promote U.S. exports and help finance export transactions. Agencies include the Ex-Im Bank, the Overseas Private Investment Corporation, the Trade and Development Agency, and the International Trade Administration. The committee will review the effectiveness and coordination these programs, with a view toward making improvements in their cost-effectiveness. (Spring, 1996)

H-9. Review of U.S. tax and regulatory policy and its impact on U.S. economic success abroad. (Spring/Summer, 1996)

H-10. Examination of the degree to which the U.S. is able to achieve its foreign policy objectives through its voice and vote in the International Financial Institutions. Is State being listened to/asserting itself? Are human rights and other political objectives taken seriously?

H-11. International Financial System. Assessment of the ability of the international financial system to respond to liquidity and other crises that threaten economic stability in other countries.

H-12. Impact of Trade on the U.S. Economy. The aftermath of the NAFTA and GATT debates; Does expanding trade, particularly with less developed economies, create more jobs than it costs?

ASIA AND THE PACIFIC

I-1. U.S. Interests in Asia as We Look to the 21st Century. The Committee intends hold a series of overview hearings, designed to lay the basic parameters of the U.S.-Asian relationship as it moves into the 21st Century. It will explore the key issues that will shape our relations with Japan, China, Korea, India, ASEAN, APEC, etc. Various hearings will examine U.S. political, military/geostrategic, economic, human rights, and foreign assistance interests in the region. The committee anticipates 6-8 hearings in this series. (January-April, 1995)

I-2. U.S.-South Korean Relations and the Korean Peninsula Region. The Committee received a classified briefing on the status of the North Korean Nuclear program, and on North Korea's efforts to drive a wedge between the United States and South Korea. The Committee will also hold a public hearing on the U.S.-North Korea Framework Agreement. (February, 1995)

I-3. U.S. Security Treaty Arrangements in the Pacific: Japan, Korea, Australia, New Zealand, Philippines. (Fall, 1995).

I-4. Review of U.S. efforts to stem intellectual property rights violations in the Asia-Pacific Region. (February-March 1995)

I-5. Japan—Economic, political, trade and security matters. The Committee will conduct an extensive review of U.S. policy toward Japan. (Spring-Summer, 1995)

I-6. American-Vietnam Relations. In the light of the recent upgrade of U.S.-Vietnamese relations, the Committee will review U.S. policy toward Vietnam. Accounting for the fate of the MIAs remains a major concern of the Committee. (Summer, 1995)

I-7. The Status and Future of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation Organization (APEC). The Committee will review the effectiveness of U.S. participation in the APEC process. (Summer-Fall, 1995)

I-8. Issues Related to Southeast Asian Refugees. Many refugees from Vietnam and Laos face the prospect of forcible return to their countries of origin from their current camps. The Committee will review the U.S. response to the prospect of their forcible return. (Summer-Fall, 1995)

I-9. Taiwan—U.S. Policy. Major unresolved issues remain regarding circumstances under which Taiwan might be recognized, Taiwan's position within the United Nations, the appropriate level of weapons sales to Taiwan, and the retention of the U.S.'s "One China" policy. (Fall, 1995)

I-10. Oversight of U.S. policy toward Afghanistan. (Fall, 1995)

I-11. The Indian Subcontinent and Indian/Chinese Relations. Is U.S. policy responding adequately to the problems faced by the peoples of the subcontinent? (Fall, 1995)

I-12. Review of the U.S. relationship with India. (Fall, 1995-Winter, 1996)

I-13. U.S.-Pakistan Relations. (Fall, 1995-Winter, 1996)

I-14. The Kashmir Problem and U.S. policy. (Winter, 1996)

I-15. PRC—Economic, political, trade and security matters. The Committee will focus on issues such as human rights, proliferation, military build-up, problems of U.S. businesses operating in China, overall trade relations, GATT accession, intellectual property issues, Tibet, policy towards Taiwan. (Summer-Fall, 1996)

I-16. The Status and Future of Hong Kong: What is the appropriate U.S. Response? (Spring, 1996)

I-17. American-Indonesia Relations. (Spring, 1996)

I-18. Peace Process in Cambodia. (Summer, 1996)

I-19. The Burma (Myanmar) Problem. What is the appropriate U.S. policy toward the military junta in Burma? Should its potential to cooperate on narcotics suppression cause us to overlook its failures on human rights? (Spring, 1996)

I-20. Conflict in Sri Lanka. (Summer, 1996)

I-21. The Status and Future of U.S. Relations with Afghanistan. (Summer-Fall, 1996)

I-22. The Asia Development Bank and World Bank. (possibly joint work with the Banking Committee) Far too little is understood about the role of the Asia Development Bank in the politics of Asia. (Spring–Summer, 1996)

I–23. U.S. Relations with and Conditions in the Three Former American Pacific Trust Territories. (Possibly joint work with the Native American and Insular Affairs Subcommittee of Public Lands and Resources Committee)

I–24. U.S. Relations with the South Pacific Nations. Comprehensive overview of relations with Australia, New Zealand, and the South Pacific island nations.

WESTERN HEMISPHERE

Cuba

J–1. The Cuban “March 13th” Tugboat Incident. The Committee will examine the U.S. response to the deliberate sinking of the “March 13th” tugboat by Cuba’s Coast Guard, killing between thirty and forty Cuban asylum seekers. (Winter, 1995)

J–2. Cuba’s economic relationships. The economic isolation of Fidel Castro continues to be a priority for many Americans. The Committee will explore the U.S. role in continuing this isolation. (Winter, 1995)

J–3. Review of U.S. policy toward Cuba and Cuban migrants. Conditions at Guantanamo; U.S.-Cuba Migration Agreement; implementation of Cuban Democracy Act (Spring, 1995)

J–4. Evaluation of Radio and T.V. Marti. The Committee will consider whether Radio and T.V. Marti should receive continued funding, and if so, how to improve their effectiveness. (Spring, 1995)

Other

J–5. Energy Policy in the Western Hemisphere. The Committee will examine whether the Western Hemisphere has an energy policy, what foreign policy risks are posed by reliance on Middle Eastern oil, and what the region can do to encourage development of alternative oil and energy supplies in the region. (Spring, 1995)

J–6. Democracy in Nicaragua. The Committee will examine U.S. policy toward the development of democracy in Nicaragua, the return of confiscated U.S. and Nicaraguan property, and the plight of the former Contras. (Summer, 1995)

J–7. Democracy in El Salvador. This hearing will examine U.S. policy toward the development of democracy in El Salvador. (Fall, 1995)

J–8. Argentina. The Committee will examine the overall state of relations between the U.S. and Argentina. (Summer, 1996)

J–9. Brazil. The Committee will examine the overall state of relations between the U.S. and Brazil. (Summer, 1996)

J–10. Guatemala. The Committee will explore U.S. policy towards Guatemala, with special attention to what progress, if any, Guatemala has made toward protecting the human rights of its populace. (Fall, 1996)

J–11. Peru & Ecuador: the Conflict over Cordillera del Condor. This hearing will examine the historical causes of and solutions to the ongoing border dispute between Peru and Ecuador. (Spring, 1995)

J-12. Review of U.S. policy in relation to Haiti. Current deployment of U.S. forces; U.S. aid; diversion of resources from other priorities; police training programs. (Spring, 1995)

J-13. Oversight of OAS. New salary policy; use of U.S. voluntary fund contributions and arrearages; internal reforms; Summit implementation (Spring, 1995)

J-14. Oversight of Aid program in Latin America. Free market strategies; support for consolidation of democracy (Winter/Spring, 1996).

J-15. Oversight of Trade Issues. Review of steps toward hemispheric free trade agreements; NAFTA access; Interim Trade Program for the Caribbean; Chile negotiations; Overview of NAFTA parity for CBI countries. (Winter/Spring, 1996)

J-16. Oversight of U.S. policy towards Mexico. Compliance with loan guarantee conditions; impact of NAFTA; economic and political reform; immigration policy; drug cooperation; Chiapas. (Winter/Spring, 1996)

J-17. Summit Follow-Up. Assignment of responsible agency or office to coordinate regional cooperation in democracy, drugs, environment, etc. (Winter/Spring, 1996)

J-18. Oversight of implementation of human rights and confiscation conditions in Central America aid programs. USG support for U.S. citizens trying to recover confiscated property. (Winter/Spring, 1996)

J-19. Expanding NAFTA: The Case of Chile. The Committee will examine Chile's economic resurgence and the benefits to the U.S. of expanding NAFTA to include Chile. (Spring, 1995)

J-20. U.S.-Canadian Relations. The future of Canada as we know it. U.S.-Canadian trade relations.

J-21. The situation in Venezuela. Continuing financial and economic instability—a threat to democracy in this country?

AFRICA

K-1. U.S. policy toward Islamic extremism in Africa. The Committee will review U.S. policy with respect to limiting Islamic extremist influences on the Continent. Also, oversight of U.S. policy toward Algeria as it faces a "fundamentalist" uprising. What is the role of the United States in encouraging democracy in Algeria? (Winter/Spring, 1995)

K-2. Oversight of U.S. policy toward Sudan. Is the U.S. responding adequately to Sudanese policies towards portions of its population, which may be seen as a form of genocide? What is the U.S. doing about the possible Sudanese threat to Eritrea and Ethiopia? (Winter/Spring, 1995)

K-3. Oversight of U.S. policy toward Rwanda & Burundi. Will Burundi also explode in Hutu-Tutsi violence? Is the Tutsi government in Rwanda reaching out to Hutus? Should donor nations withdraw support from refugee camps where Hutu extremists are in power? (Winter/Spring, 1995)

K-4. U.S. efforts to improve democracy in Africa. The committee will review during U.S. initiatives undertaken to provide technical assistance to African nations during their periods of transition towards democracy. (Spring, 1995)

K-5. U.S. trade, private investment, and economic development in Africa. The Committee will attempt to determine whether current policy aimed at increasing U.S. access to Africa's vital exports, and at increasing U.S. exports, is effective, to include a review of the activities of OPIC, Exim Bank, and the Commerce Department. Also, the Committee will examine U.S. efforts to encourage inter-African trade; African trade with the rest of the world is ten times higher than trade within Africa. (Spring, 1995)

K-6. Economic conditions and development in Africa. It has been suggested that by using bilateral levels of assistance and support for the World Bank and debt reduction programs as leverage, the U.S. can help African countries liberalize their economies. The committee will review U.S. efforts to promote the growth of market economies in Africa. (Spring, 1995)

K-7. Oversight over the AID activities such as the Development Fund for Africa, and of agencies such as the Africa Development Foundation. It has been suggested that there is duplication among these agencies and USAID, and that some of the programs are outdated or otherwise ineffective. Do they constrain more creative, trade-based development? As to the Africa Development Foundation: are its overhead costs too high? What results can be shown from micro-enterprise efforts? Is it adequately funded? Should it remain an independent corporation? (Fall, 1995)

K-8. U.S. Foreign Assistance to Africa. The committee will review thoroughly all foreign aid requests for Africa in all categories of assistance in the light of current policy and performance. (Fall, 1995)

K-9. U.S. peacekeeping and its military presence in Africa. Is U.S. involvement in internal African conflicts in the national interest? Special attention will be paid to U.S. assistance for the final U.N. pullout from Somalia and to the peace process and prospects for peacekeeping in Angola. (Fall, 1995)

K-10. U.S. policy toward Zaire and Nigeria. How does the U.S. approach deal with regimes that have apparently failed to perform the most basic governmental obligations? (Fall, 1995/Winter, 1996)

K-11. Review of U.S. policy toward French relations with Francophone Africa. France's policies in Africa appear to have had negative effects on liberalization and democratization. What effect have these policies had on the people of Africa? How can the U.S. and other nations best counter and overcome them? (Fall, 1995/Winter, 1996)

K-12. Review of U.S. analytical framework for its approach to Africa. Should the United States stop looking at Africa as a singularity and begin to think in terms of sub-regions? (Fall, 1995/Winter, 1996)

K-13. U.S. Policy towards South Africa.

K-14. HIV and other health issues. The Committee will review U.S. programs and projects in Africa to combat HIV and other health-related problems. (Spring, 1996)

K-15. African Ecological problems. The Committee will hold hearings to gain further insight on U.S. efforts to resolve these problems. (Spring, 1996)

K-16. Refugee issues: causes and responses. The United States government, working in conjunction with United Nations relief agencies and other international relief organizations, is the leading provider of assistance in response to refugee emergencies worldwide. The Committee will assess the factors causing these refugee crises; how the U.S. and the international community is responding to these situations; address the notion of prevention; and how to improve upon the measures already in place. (Spring, 1996)

INTERNATIONAL OPERATIONS

State Department

L-1. Organization of the Department of State. The Committee will examine changes in the organization of the Department, with particular reference to amendments made in the Foreign Relations Authorization Act, Fiscal Years 1994 and 1995. Review progress on the Department's management initiatives and reengineering proposals, including a review of resource allocations overseas and in Washington based on agency priorities and necessary cost savings; personnel reforms in both the civil and foreign services and downsizing of overseas and Washington based bureaucracy; review use of allowances overseas and performance pay awards and possible adjustments; effectiveness/morale of civil service staff, including support staff. Proper placement of officials responsible for Canada and the FSU within the State bureaucracy. (Winter-Spring, 1995)

L-2. Diplomatic and consular programs. The Committee will examine the impact of the end of the Cold War on United States diplomatic needs; role of diplomatic posts in monitoring international drug trafficking; impact of new technology on diplomatic and consular programs; and the protection of foreign missions and officials in the United States. (Spring-Summer, 1995)

L-3. Oversight of Foreign Buildings activities. This is one of the largest accounts at the State Department. The Committee will oversee the activities of the Foreign Buildings Office, which is responsible for the several new posts opened in the former Soviet Union, for the disposition of certain surplus property abroad, and for security upgrades and maintenance. (Summer/Fall, 1995)

L-4. Review of overseas security. The Department's new "risk management" criteria permits savings by allowing managers to set security standards on a case by case basis. How is this working: is safety being compromised?

L-5. Is State doing enough planning/forward thinking? (Summer/Fall, 1996)

L-6. Oversight of Inspectors General of foreign affairs agencies. Are they working effectively? Are they being listened to? (Summer/Fall, 1995)

L-7. Review of consular activities. The Consular Affairs bureau is responsible for visas, passports and American Citizen services abroad; it is the front line for border security. Oversight issues include the status of resources for security and services to Americans overseas. Do consular officers in the field receive any feedback about whether their decisions to admit/deny visas are valid (i.e., does INS report to individual posts/officers on overstays, etc.)? (Fall, 1995)

L-8. International Organizations. The Committee will review the extent, costs, and benefits of United States participation in the United Nations and its affiliated organizations (e.g. UNICEF, WHO, UNPF), including issues of U.N. management reforms. (Summer, 1996)

L-9. Migration and refugee assistance. This Committee will examine the programs and administrative expenses of the bureau charged with carrying out the purposes of the Migration and Refugee Assistance Act of 1962. (Fall, 1995)

United States Information Agency

L-10. Broadcasting. All international broadcasting has been consolidated at USIA under a new Board for International Broadcasting. The transition will take some time and has required considerable adjustments, and restructuring, within USIA. (Fall, 1996)

L-11. Oversight of Au Pair regulations. New regulations will be issued February 1995, and implementation of these should be reviewed, along with assessing which agency (if any) should administer the program.

L-12. Oversight of International Exchanges. USIA has statutory responsibility to coordinate international exchanges operated government-wide. Recent studies have identified significant overlap and duplication in exchange programs. A review of options to consolidate these exchanges to improve efficiency of programs may yield substantial budget savings (estimates $200-250 million).

L-13. Other USIA programs. The Committee will examine such other USIA programs as its work on international conferences and commissions. (Fall, 1996)

Other

L-14. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency Consolidation. The Committee will examine the effectiveness of ACDA in its present form, in light of suggestions that have been made that ACDA be consolidated with the Department of State or some other entity. (Fall, 1996)

SCIENCE AND THE ENVIRONMENT

M-1. International research cooperation. The Committee will review the administration of grants, contracts, and other activities to conduct research and promote international cooperation on environmental and other scientific issues. (Winter, 1996)

M-2. Sustainable Development and the Environment.

M-3. Global Climate change.

M-4. Biodiversity Convention.

M-5. Law of the Sea Convention.

M-6. Protocol for the Antarctic Treaty.

POPULATION AND CHILD SURVIVAL ISSUES

N-1. Population. The Cairo Conference on Population and Development called for significant new spending on population programs, but spending is already high. Are more resources the answer? Problems with/effectiveness of population efforts. (Summer, 1995)

N-2. Child survival. The Committee will examine the current state of infant mortality around the world, and will review United States participation in programs that aim to alleviate it, such as UNICEF. (Fall, 1995)

HUMAN RIGHTS

O-1. Universal Declaration of Human Rights. The Committee will examine the current state of observance of the Declaration, including issues relating to the forced repatriation of refugees to countries where they are in significant danger of becoming victims of violations of their human rights. (Spring, 1995)

O-2. The Convention Against Torture And Other Cruel, Inhuman, or Degrading Treatment or Punishment. The Committee will examine United States interpretation and implementation of this treaty. (Summer, 1995)

O-3. Religious persecution. The Committee will examine infractions of the right of religious liberty around the world, and the United States response to these abuses. (Fall, 1995)

O-4. Anti-semitism. There are suggestions that varieties of anti-Semitism unseen since before World War II are emerging at various points in the world. The committee will examine this problem and the United States response to it. (Fall, 1995)

O-5. Sexual exploitation of women and children. The Committee will examine the problems of large-scale prostitution, including child prostitution, in various parts of the world, and the United States response. (Fall, 1995)

O-6. Former Yugoslavia. The Committee will explore charges regarding human rights abuses arising out of the ongoing war in this region. (Spring, 1996)

O-7. Chechnya. The Committee will examine the human rights implications of the conduct of the Russian military in this region. (Spring, 1996)

O-8. Slavery. The Committee will examine Administration efforts to eradicate slavery throughout the world, with particular attention to the situation in Mauritania and the Sudan.

Additional matters taken up included reports of political murders in Haiti, and matters related to Bosnia.

Substantially all of the Committee's hearings (see section IV), involved oversight, with the exception of hearings held by the full Committee and Subcommittees on specific legislation.

The results of the Committee's oversight have included the public attention to matters raised as a result of the Committee's hearings and other activities; the adoption of legislation such as the Cuban Liberty and Democratic Solidarity (LIBERTAD) Act and the Iran-Libya Sanctions Act, and legislation reforming certain foreign assistance and ship transfer authorities (Pub. L. 104-164). In addition, the oversight activities of the Committee helped prepare for Committee and full House action on legislation such as H.R. 7 and H.R. 1561, described elsewhere, which were not enacted into law.

The Committee believes that its attention to oversight has helped provide Congress and the American public with an opportunity to better evaluate the foreign policy developed by the Administration and has helped provide the Administration with feedback on these important matters from the Members of Congress and the public.

II. GENERAL REVIEW ACTIVITIES OF THE COMMITTEE

A. Executive Branch Reports

Reporting requirements in legislation and the reports submitted in response to them constitute one of the oldest information systems used by Congress. On every subject with which Congress deals, required reports offer a way to oversee and review the implementation of legislation by the executive branch.

In the foreign policy field, it is particularly important to insure that reporting requirements and the resultant reports submitted by the executive branch are an efficient mechanism for supplying Congress with information. Information on domestic problems is often easier to obtain from sources outside the executive branch than information on problems from abroad. Moreover, the executive branch has sometimes attempted to shield its activities in the foreign policy field from public view and treat it as its exclusive domain. The lack of information on foreign policy problems and executive branch activities has been one of the major reasons it has been more difficult for Congress to play its legitimate role in the making of foreign policy, although the Constitution expressly shares such powers between Congress and the President.

For the Committee on International Relations, the improvement of the system of required reports offers another step toward a better supply of information that Congress needs to make foreign policy decisions. Through the careful placing of reporting requirements in legislation, Congress can improve its capacity for an effective foreign policy role.

B. Reference Documents

Periodically the Committee on International Relations compiles, prints, and distributes official documents which are useful to the membership in exercising the oversight function as well as other responsibilities. The following is a listing of those compilations for the 104th Congress:

1. Legislation on Foreign Relations.—This 5 volume set is prepared under the direction of the staff of the House Committee on International Relations and the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations with the assistance of the Foreign Affairs and National Defense Division of the Congressional Research Service of the Library of Congress. This collection of laws and related materials contains texts referred to by the Committee on International Relations, and the Foreign Relations Committee, amended to date, and annotated to show pertinent history or cross references. The volumes include all laws concerning foreign relations, codified and in force, treaties in force, as well as executive agreements and orders, State Department regulations and State Department delegations of authorities as of October 31, 1996.

2. Legislative Calendar.—This compendium of committee legislative information is published annually. Each volume includes a current listing and status of all committee legislation; committee publications and reports; executive communications and messages from the President referred to the committee; House floor amendments in committee legislation; and a legislative progress chart.

C. Study Missions and Participation in International Conferences and Events

The committee has kept itself informed of the latest developments in foreign affairs. Conferences with high government officials have been augmented by special study missions to various parts of the world to obtain firsthand knowledge of the problems of foreign countries and the administration of U.S. programs and operations falling within the purview of the committee.

III. SUMMARIES OF LEGISLATIVE ACTIVITIES BY FULL COMMITTEE

Legislation Signed Into Public Law

Iran/Libya Oil Sanctions Act of 1996 (P.L. 104-172)

H.R. 3107 imposes sanctions on foreign companies that do business with terrorist states Iran and Libya, and on persons exporting certain goods or technology that would enhance these countries' ability to explore for and refine petroleum.

Signed by the President August 5, 1996.

Cuban Liberty and Democratic Solidarity (LIBERTAD) Act (P.L. 104-114)

H.R. 927 seeks international sanctions against the Castro Government, and is intended to hasten the downfall of the Castro Regime, discourage investment in Cuba, begin planning for U.S. support for democratic transition, and protect U.S. confiscated property from exploitation.

Signed by the President March 12, 1996.

Defense and Security Assistance Reform/Transfer of Naval Vessels (P.L. 104-164)

H.R. 3121 amends the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 and the Arms Export Control Act to make improvements to certain defense and security assistance provisions, and authorizes the transfer of ten naval vessels to six foreign countries.

Signed by the President July 21, 1996.

Human Rights, Refugees, and Other Foreign Relations Provisions Act of 1996 (P.L. 104-319)

H.R. 4036 amends the Foreign Operations Appropriations Act of 1990 to extend certain adjudication provisions, provides for educational and cultural exchanges, authorizes the Secretary of State to make improvements to the Rio Grande Canalization Project, and provides grants to establish the George Bush school of government and public service and the Calvin Coolidge Memorial Foundation.

Signed by the President October 19, 1996.

Extension of Au Pair Program (P.L. 104-72)

S. 1465 extends the au pair program through fiscal year 1997.
Signed by the President December 23, 1995.

Jerusalem Embassy Relocation (P.L. 104-45)

S. 1322 calls for the relocation of the U.S. embassy in Israel from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem by 1999, and declares that Jerusalem should remain Israel's undivided capital.

Signed by the President November 8, 1995.

Travel and Tourism Partnership Act (P.L. 104-288)

H.R. 2579 establishes the National Tourism Board and the National Tourism Organization to promote international travel and tourism to the United States.

Signed by the President October 11, 1996.

Voice of America/Radio Marti (P.L. 104-269)

H.R. 3916 allows the United States Information Agency (USIA) to make available certain Voice of America and Radio Marti multi-lingual computer readable text and voice recordings in various languages at no cost to the U.S. Government.

Signed by the President on October 9, 1996.

Severance Pay to AID Employees (P.L. 104-190)

H.R. 3870 authorizes the Agency for International Development to offer voluntary separation incentive payments to employees in an effort to achieve the Agency's goal to streamline its number of employees.

Signed by the President August 20, 1996.

This Act toughens and clarifies the conditions under which the PLO can receive U.S. foreign aid and maintain a mission in Washington, D.C., and monitors the PLO's compliance with its commitments. The Act was temporarily extended five times (P.L. 104-17, P.L. 104-22, P.L. 104-30, P.L. 104-30, P.L. 104-47, and P.L. 104-89) until a revised Middle East Peace Facilitation Act was enacted as part of the FY 96 Foreign Operations Appropriations Act.

Signed by the President February 12, 1996.

Food Aid (P.L. 104-127)

The International Relations Committee's version of the trade and food aid title of the 1995 Farm Bill was considered and accepted by the full House. The language was, in large part, adopted by the House/Senate Conference and signed into law by President Clinton on April 4, 1996.

NATO Enlargement Facilitation Act of 1996 (P.L. 104-208)

This Act amends the NATO Participation Act of 1994 to expedite the transition to full membership in NATO of emerging democracies in Central and Eastern Europe. H.R. 3564, the Committee's bill, passed the House by a vote of 353 to 65, and was incorporated into the FY 97 Omnibus Appropriations Act (Sec. 101(c) of Title VI of P.L. 104-208).

Signed by the President September 30, 1996.

Legislation Passed by Both Senate and House

American Overseas Interests Act (H.R. 1561)

This bill, which passed both the House and Senate, was vetoed by the President. It contained provisions to authorize foreign affairs agencies' operating budgets, reestablish the Development Fund for Africa, modernize U.S. arms export controls, provide funds and place conditions on funds for U.N. peacekeeping efforts in Bosnia, ban U.S. family planning funds for foreign organizations that promote abortion as a method of family planning overseas, consolidate U.S. foreign affairs agencies and reduce funding for these agencies by $3 billion, create an Office of Coordinator for Counter-Terrorism at the Department of State that reports directly to the Secretary, require the President to report to Congress on the impact and effectiveness of U.S. foreign aid spending and return to the U.S. Treasury certain obligated but unexpended funds, loosen restrictions on granting asylum to those fleeing coerced abortions, authorize grant assistance to microenterprises overseas, apply conditions on foreign aid to Russia, and restrict the use of funds for closer relations with Vietnam.

Vetoed by the President April 15, 1996.

Bosnia-Herzegovina Self-Defense Act (S. 21)

This legislation mandates termination of U.S. participation in the international arms embargo on Bosnia.

Vetoed by the President August 11, 1995.

Visit by President Lee Teng-Hui of Taiwan (H. Con. Res. 53)

This resolution expresses the sense of the Congress on the private visit of the President of the Republic of China on Taiwan to the United States.

Military Stability in the Taiwan Strait (H. Con. Res. 148)

This resolution states that the United States is committed to military stability in the Taiwan Strait.

Expo '98 in Lisbon, Portugal (H. Con. Res. 91, S. Con. Res. 22)

This resolution expresses the sense of the Congress that the United States should participate in Expo '98 in Lisbon.

Legislation That Passed the House

National Security Revitalization Act (H.R. 7)

This Act, to revitalize the national security of the United States, contained provisions regarding defense spending, United Nations Peacekeeping activities, missile defense capabilities, and the expansion of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Omnibus Export Administration Act of 1995 (H.R. 361)

This Act provided authority to control exports.

U.S.-China Issues (H. Con. Res. 117, H.R. 2058, H. Res. 178)

The Committee worked on many pieces of legislation regarding China issues. H. Con. Res. 117 and H. Res. 178, calling for the release of writer/human rights advocate Wei Jingsheng, and U.S. citizen Harry Wu, both passed the House without any opposition. H.R. 2058, the China Policy Act of 1995, redefines U.S. policy toward the PRC regarding nuclear proliferation, excessive modernization of weapons, provocative actions, etc. This Act passed the House, but was not taken up by the Senate.

Development Fund for Africa (H.R. 3735)

This bill reauthorized the Development Fund for Africa for FY 1996–97.

The Microenterprise Act (H.R. 3846)

This Act amends the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 to authorize the provision of assistance for microenterprises.

Prohibiting Use of DOD Funds for Bosnia Operation (H.R. 2606)

This bill prohibited DOD funds from being used to deploy U.S. ground forces in Bosnia as part of any peacekeeping operation.

U.S.-North Korea Agreed Framework (H.J. Res. 83)

This legislation contained provisions related to the U.S.-North Korea Agreed Framework and the obligations of North Korea with respect to the denuclearization of the Korean Peninsula and dialogue with the Republic of Korea.

Considered but Not Passed by the House

The Exports, Jobs and Growth Act of 1996, to extend the authority of the Overseas Private Investment Corporation (H.R. 3759)

This Act extends the authority of the Overseas Private Investment Corporation. This legislation was reported out of the Committee and brought up in the House under Suspension of the Rules; however, it did not receive 2/3 of the vote necessary to suspend the rules and pass by yea-nay (vote 157–260).

SEPARATE VIEWS OF THE RANKING DEMOCRATIC MEMBER, THE HONORABLE LEE H. HAMILTON

I write separately because I reach a different conclusion regarding the Committee's legislative activities in the 104th Congress. I am particularly concerned with the section of this report devoted to legislation addressed by the Committee and the section that describes the Committee's oversight work.

The Committee report, in describing bills that were signed into law, includes major bills that were never considered by the Committee such as the Jerusalem Embassy Relocation Act, the Middle East Peace Facilitation Act of 1996, and the food aid title of the Agricultural Market Transition Act. These bills bypassed the Committee entirely, either going directly to debate on the floor of the House, or being added to appropriations measures. In these cases, the House leadership circumvented the Committee, or allowed others to circumvent the Committee's jurisdiction.

In its narratives on bills passed by the House and/or the Senate, the Committee report leaves out critical aspects of the descriptions of these bills and the process under which they were considered. The Committee devoted the great majority of its legislative time during the 104th Congress to two measures: H.R. 1561, the American Overseas Interests Act, and H.R. 7, the National Security Revitalization Act. Both measures were approved both in the Committee and by the House on virtually straight party-line votes. In the drafting of both bills, the minority was given little opportunity to work together with the majority to find common ground. The majority had the votes to move these bills through the Committee and through the House. Both H.R. 7 and H.R. 1561, however, provide prime examples that a divisive partisan process will not result in the enactment of legislation.

I also must comment on the Committee report's description of the Committee's oversight activities, which I find misleading. The report details the plans submitted by the Committee at the beginning of the 104th Congress and states that most [planned oversight items] were accomplished to some degree." In reviewing the list, it is my impression that fewer than half of the items listed have been satisfactorily addressed, at the Member or staff level. I am especially concerned about the inadequate oversight of U.S. policy in Europe and the Middle East, and the inability of the Committee to hold regular oversight hearings with the appropriate Assistant Secretaries of State for those regions.

I believe the Committee needs to adopt a more constructive approach to its review and criticism of U.S. foreign policy. Criticism is often warranted, but the Committee should adopt a legislative and oversight agenda for the 105th Congress designed to improve the conduct of U.S. foreign policy, rather than make it more difficult. I would hope that both majority and minority have learned from the last two years, and that we will approach our legislative and oversight tasks with a clear interest in the success of policy rather than its failure. The interests of the United States will be served best by efforts to forge a bipartisan consensus on the difficult foreign policy issues before the 105th Congress.

LEE H. HAMILTON,

COMMITTEE ORIGINS AND HISTORY

The Committee on Foreign Affairs/International Relations traces its origins to November 29, 1775. It was on that date that the Continental Congress by resolution created a committee "for the sole purposes of corresponding with our friends in Great Britain, Ireland, and other parts of the world." The members chosen for this committee were Benjamin Franklin—who served as chairman and guiding spirit—Benjamin Harrison, Thomas Johnson, Jr., John Dickinson, and John Jay. Known at first as the Committee of Correspondence, the committee itself soon changed its name to the Committee of Secret Correspondence.

That committee was the first institution created to represent the United States in the foreign affairs field. The Committee on Foreign Affairs (as well as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee) is a lineal descendant of the Committee of Correspondence.

Franklin's committee quickly entered into communication with various persons in Europe for the purpose of ascertaining sentiment there toward the Colonies and obtaining any other information which might be useful in the struggle with England. It even designated its own secret agents abroad.

By the spring of 1777, the specialized nature of the committee's work had been recognized and its title changed to "Committee for Foreign Affairs." Special problems in foreign relations, however, were sometimes dealt with by select or temporary committees appointed for the purpose.

After the Congress of the United States was organized under the Constitution, select committees to deal with foreign affairs were appointed. In 1807, during the Jefferson Presidency, a House committee was established in response to predatory actions by both the French and British against American commercial shipping. Following the seizure and search of the U.S. frigate Chesapeake 10 miles off the Virginia coast by a British ship, the House appointed a special Foreign Relations Committee which was also known as the Aggression Committee. That committee had an active role in foreign policy considerations through the War of 1812 and in 1822, renamed the Committee on Foreign Affairs, was designated a standing committee of the House with a membership of seven. The 150th anniversary of that event was celebrated by the committee in 1972.

Because the House is the organ of National Government closest to the citizenry, the Committee on Foreign Affairs may truly be said to have been the voice of the American people on issues of international significance for more than a century and a half. Although this important role has remained the same, the name of the committee was changed on March 19, 1975, by a resolution (House Resolution 163) sponsored by 22 members of the committee to the Committee on International Relations. The change resulted from the extensive discussions by the members that were undertaken in relation to the reorganization of the subcommittee structure of the committee. It was the consensus that the change in the name of the full committee would more accurately reflect the organization of the committee as it had been agreed upon by its own members at that time. Subsequently, at the beginning of the 96th Congress, the committee again reorganized its subcommittee structure and agreed to the introduction of House Resolution 89, sponsored by 30 Members, to return to the committee's original name "The Committee on Foreign Affairs." The resolution was agreed to on February 5, 1979.

Throughout its history, the committee has been composed of some of America's most able legislators and statesmen. Two American Presidents have served on it: James K. Polk, from 1827 to 1831, and John Quincy Adams, who became chairman in 1842 after he returned to the House following his term as the Chief Executive.

Many former chairmen of the committee have written their names into the history books. Among them was Edward Everett of Massachusetts, chairman in the 20th Congress, who also served as Secretary of State, was a Whig Vice Presidential candidate in 1860, and is remembered as one of America's greatest orators. Francis W. Pickens, who chaired the committee from 1839 to 1841, later became Governor of South Carolina and authorized the firing on Fort Sumter which precipitated the Civil War.

Serving as chairman in the aftermath of World War I, Stephen G. Porter of Pennsylvania came to be one of the most influential figures in the determination of American foreign policy in the early 1920's. In more recent times, Chairman Sol Bloom of New York and James P. Richards of South Carolina have been recognized for their contributions to America's leadership in the immediate post-World War II period. The longest tenure as chairman in the history of the committee was that of Hon. Thomas E. Morgan of Pennsylvania who served in that position from 1959 until the end of the 94th Congress.

Other former members of the Committee on Foreign Affairs—men like Tom Connally of Texas, Champ Clark of Iowa, and J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, Mike Mansfield of Montana, and Jacob Javits of New York, Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, and Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut—went to the U.S. Senate where they established reputations for their work on international affairs legislation.

Moreover, committee experience has provided a beginning for numerous men who have gone on to distinguish themselves in the diplomatic service of the country. Among them was Perry Belmont, chairman in the 49th and 50th Congresses, who was U.S. Minister of Spain in 1888-89 and a noted author of work on international policies. His successor as chairman in the 51st Congress was Robert R. Hitt of Ohio who was chief of the U.S. Delegation in Paris from 1874 to 1881 and subsequently was appointed Assistant Secretary of State. Christian A. Herter, who served as Secretary of State during the Eisenhower administration, was a committee member in the 82d Congress. More recent examples are: Chester

Bowles, former Under Secretary of State; James W. Wadsworth, former U.S. Representative of the United Nations; F. Bradford Morse, United Nations Development Programs; E. Ross Adair, former Ambassador to Ethiopia; William S. Mailliard, former Ambassador to the Organization of America States; and J. Danforth Quayle, former Vice President of the United States.

<sup>3</sup> Hon. John Kee died on May 8, 1951. Hon. James P. Richards became chairman for remainder of 82nd Congress.

Note—The data is taken from collections of congressional directories in the Library of Congress, Department of State, Supreme Court and the National Archives. The following volumes are missing from all collections: 34th Congress 3d session, 37th Congress 1st and 3rd session, 40th Congress 1st session, 55th Congress 1st session, 58th Congress 1st session, 75th Congress 2nd session, and 76th Congress 2nd session.

Party designations are taken from biographical dictionary of the American Congress, and are unavoidably subject to error in the early period, due to the vagueness of party lines and frequent shifting of men from one party to another on critical issues. In instances where the Biographical Directory incorrectly refers to Democratic Republicans as Democrats the designation has been changed.
